Headline:
Heavy and persistent rain today, with coastal gales later.

Today:
Rain, heavy and persistent, will become slow moving across the region during the day. The rain will be accompanied by strong winds, with coastal gales, especially later in the day. Feeling cool in the rain and strong winds. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Further outbreaks of rain this evening, before gradually clearing away eastwards into the North Sea overnight. Windy, with coastal gales. Becoming drier with some clear spells by dawn. Turning chilly. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Wednesday:
Early cloud along North Sea coastal areas will soon clear to leave a dry day, with sunny spells. Windy at first, gradually easing. Feeling a little warmer compared to Tuesday. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Largely fine and dry with sunny spells Thursday and Friday, after early fog patches have cleared. Feeling warmer than of late. Cloud and outbreaks of rain moving slowly southeast Saturday.
